INTRODUCTION

The Toledo Federation of Art Societies, in collaboration with the Toledo Museum of Art, welcomes you to the 84th Annual Toledo Area Artists Exhibition. The exhibition features works of art created in the past four years by persons who have resided in Northwest Ohio or Southeast Michigan. Edward Schmidt, a painter and one of the founders of the New York Academy of Art, and Betty Talbott, a potter and the Executive Director of the Ohio Designer Craftsmen Museum, selected the 127 works from a pool of 726 entries.

An exhibition of this magnitude requires careful preparation. The trustees and delegates of the Toledo Federation of Art Societies have devoted much time and effort in its planning. We would like to recognize and thank the following for their contributions to the exhibition: Roger Berkowitz, director of the Toledo Museum of Art and a long time supporter of the Toledo Federation of Art Societies; Claude Fixler, installation coordinator, and Julia Habrecht, exhibitions administrator, who served as liaisons to the Toledo Federation of Art Societies; Russ Curry, Ales Hlousek, Andre Sepetavec, and Steve Walbolt, art handlers; Rochelle Slosser Smith, graphic design coordinator; Kathy Gee, Toni Gonzalez, and Julia Chytil, the Toledo Museum of Art, Visual Resources Collection; and the artists, whose creative efforts make this exhibition possible.

Our area is rich with talent. As you walk through the galleries, please notice the artists' names as you appreciate the works of art. You may recognize a neighbor, coworker, or acquaintance with a talent you have never before seen. The organizations that make up the Toledo Federation of Art Societies serve as a gathering place and source of support for many of these artists. It is through their efforts, with the guidance of The Toledo Museum of Art, that this show is possible.

We hope you enjoy it.
